XIII INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE STUDENTS ENCOUNTERING SCIENCE // e-mail: stes@unibl.org // web: stes.unibl.org

Dear colleagues,

In November 2020 the University of Banja Luka will host the 13th multidisciplinary international scientific conference “Students Encountering Science – StES 2020”. The conference is an opportunity for students from around the world to present their scientific achievements and it will take place between 26 and 28 November 2020 in Banja Luka.

It is our pleasure to invite you to participate and give you an opportunity to present your scientific papers. You can apply if you are an undergraduate, master or doctoral student or a young researcher (under 30).

“Students Encountering Science” is the leading multidisciplinary students’ scientific conference, organized by the Students’ Parliament of the University of Banja Luka. The aim of the conference is to present students’ scientific achievements and the possibility of their practical application, as well as to determine the course of further research. StES is an opportunity to improve students’ scientific research, promote academic spirit, exchange opinions, and make new friends.
